Amazon calculates a products star ratings based on a machine learned model instead of a raw data average. The model takes into account factors including the age of a rating, whether the ratings are from verified purchasers and factors that establish reviewer trustworthiness. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Soon after, I ordered this watch for my boyfriend 2 days before Christmas. I was nervous that the watch wouldnt come in on time and the Christmas present wouldnt be able to be given until after it was all over. However, to my surprise the watch was delivered right on time as promised by Amazon. The packaging it came in was handled with care and the Bulova watch inside was stunning. After seeing how beautiful the watch was, I couldnt wait until Christmas to give it to him. So. as he walked in the door from shopping I presented him with the watch. His reaction to the watch was unforgettable; he acted like a kid on Christmas that has just opened up the one thing they really wanted. His eyes lit up and I dont think I have ever seen a smile that big. He really loves the way the watch looks and likes that he can see the internal workings of the watch not to mention that he wont ever have to purchase a battery for the watch, saving him money. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I did a lot of research into it and chose a Kenneth Cole. The watch was gorgeous and had received many good reviews. Sadly, just months into owning it, it stopped working for no apparent

As we live overseas, sending things back to companies and what not can be a hassle, so we took it to a local jeweler. The gentleman looked at the watch and declared it had Chinese parts and was no good. Im not sure if thats true for all watches with Chinese parts but the man mentioned how many watches with Chinese parts just randomly stop working. He held on to the watch for a week, trying to see if he could find parts that matched it to fix it. Sadly, a no go. So, here I was again, looking for a watch sorry for the long intro. At first, we chose a different watch, but there was only one left and we were not quick enough. Eventually, I saw this watch. Ordered it and we got it yesterday. The picture does NOT do it justice. The watch is masculine, debonair, attractive. Its like James Bond in watch form minus the crazy gadgets. Ill try to update in about a month or so to let you know if we still love it! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again The watch looks great, and has received many compliments in the 8 months I have worn it. The wind will last about a day without being worn, so if you do not wear it over the weekend, be prepared to have to set the time again on Monday morning. I find that if I give the watch a good shake on Saturday night, it will maintain its wind through the weekend. The watch comes with a couple too many links installed, so be sure to be ready to have some removed for a proper fit unless you have a very large wrist. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I was looking for something that looked a little like a dress watch for an upcoming wedding. 3. I think the watch looks better than the pictures. The polish is very high.very shiney watch. The window on the dial is a delight to watch, as is the open faced back. 4. In my limited Random Thoughts The watch will come with the band likely too large for your wrist.you will need to go to a jeweler to have it

On a related note some jewelers give a little attitude if you didnt buy from them.if you know anyone into watches get a recommendation.just a thought. All for now, will update as opinion changes. Hope you enjoy as much as I do.nothing but compliments so far, as well as surprise at the price I paid on Amazon. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again One downside, is the claps continually comes loose and I have to reclap constantly. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Buy you will be happy. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again The styling is elegant and eyecatching; the band is wellstyled, with a warm and highquality luster to the steel; the partial skeleton face and clear caseback are cool to look at; and the whole piece is heavy and wellbalanced. Ive only had it for a week, but so far it has been keeping perfect time with no stoppages. I only wore it for about half an hour yesterday, and it ran just fine overnight. That was nice to see, because I had been a little apprehensive about my first automatic movement. This model does have a few drawbacks. All of these are things that I considered when shopping, and I decided to go with this one anyway. First, it has no calendar, no date display, nothing. This might be a problem for some people; however, I never remember to set my date function each month, so the date function on my other watches is ignored. Id rather have no date function than an usually incorrect one taking up space on my watch. Some day Ill be able to afford a watch with a nice perpetual calendar, but in the meantime this works great. Second, the butterfly clasp is a little annoying. The band was too large when I received it in the mail, so I took it to my local jeweler to have two links removed. That made it just a tiny bit too snug, but removing only one link still let the watch flop all over the place. I figured Id get used to it.

However, now I have the problem that when I bend my wrist too far downward, the skin bunches up and actuates the butterfly clasp, so I have to stop and reclasp it. The watch is never in any danger of falling off, but its a pain. I have a feeling that if Id left the extra link in the band, this wouldnt be a problem at all. All in all, I definitely recommend this watch. Its beautiful, functional, and a good value. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I have been complimented on how nice this watch looks on many occasions. I wear it to my office and when I go out. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Its a battery powered watch with day and date Ive had it for about 3 years. It works just fine, but needs a new battery about once a year. The new selfwinding watch is really nice a bigger face and a nice look. The ONLY reason I didnt give it 5stars is that it doesnt have a day and date display. This is a good watch and I dont have to use batteries good for me and the environment I just need to move my wrist from time to time. Id give it 4.5 stars if I could!!Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Its a heavy watch, but I think it wears great. Love the mechanical selfwinding feature. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I love the color and style of the face and the window on the back of the case that lets you see the winding mechanism function. This was money well spent.and, coming from me, that says a lot! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Highly recommend if you dont want to worry about batteries. Needs to be adjusted to the wrist. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again. A

The open heart display gives you a constant reminder of what lies beneath the surface, and the fact that this watch is built as well as it is means you'll probably be looking at it a lot. It hacks when being set, making it easy to precisely set the time. Turn the crown clockwise to set the time. The stainless steel bracelet is serious business it looks the part, and it's got the weight to back it up, too. It pairs well with the open heart display at 7 o'clock, though I think it takes away from everything else. As a result, the open heart display seems very awkward. It doesn't necessarily look bad, but it's hardly at the top of the list for looks, either. The hands are easy enough to see, as it's mostly the hour markers that glow inconsistently. It has definite presence on the wrist, though most of that is due to its weight the 96A101 is definitely on the heavy side of comfortable. I know it would have added a bit to the price, but I think it'd have made it a better piece overall. The rest of the watch feels indestructible, making the choice of a mineral crystal a little offbase. It's very solid, which I think justifies the 96A101's 453g curb weight. Where some watches have a certain cheapness to them due to how light they are, this Bulova is almost the opposite just how much steel did they use to make this thing That's not necessarily a good thing, though it also isn't necessary a bad thing, either. It's more a statement of fact. Over the last half decade it has proven to be as reliable as expected. During the time that I wore it a lot of people commented on how it looks it's the bracelet seriously. The stainless steel everything overpowers the texture and color in the dial, and the whole thing looks awkward. Its a shame, too, because its got a good movement and is built really well. If its your cup of tea, youre going to enjoy it. Im a fan of all things that keep good time, and I cant resist a great looking watch.

WYCA is my way of appreciating the engineering and artistry that goes into affordable watches. My favorite watch is my Jazzmaster Auto Chrono, and the watch I wear the most is my Weekender Chronograph. I currently have 33 watches in my collection. I would like to point out an error. Your review states this watch has a Miyota 9015; this is a 24 jewels movement. However, the dial, and caseback reveal this Bulova has a 21 jewels movement. It looks like an 8015 to me, but I'm no expert. Now, if it had a 9015, I'd jump on it in a flash. Looking forward to more of your reviews. After further research I am inclined to agree that it is indeed sporting a Miyota 8015. I will adjust the review later I have the one with the alligator leather band. OK well the band and snap method is really cool but the wath itself sucks. It will not stay running. I have worn this thing for 3 days because the jewelry shop I bought it from told me that was the only way to "charge it". Bullshit, it stops evry five or more minutes, I have to keep adjusting the time. It is not accurate at all. I will take a battery watch anyday. Get it exchanged for a new one or have Bulova take care of it via warranty. Yours sounds defective. I suspect once you have it repaired you'll enjoy it much more Something is broken with your watch. Try manually winding it with the crown. I was a bit skeptical about the Japanese movement because I hadn't read much about them. Cameron's articles were very helpful and sold me on the modern Bulova. I'm impressed with the overall quality of both. We are participants in the Amazon Associates referral prorgram. By continuing to use this site you agree to these cookies. Learn More. Okay, thanks.
